

My K-Love radio station is priceless. It gives me strength and re-affirms my faith everyday. As a 30-something new Christian, the music and messages they broadcast are paramount to my walk with Christ - it would be devastating to lose it!

The community would also suffer without it...my 8-year old niece was riding with me in my car with K Love on. Her parents don't take her to church or discuss the love of Jesus. She loved the music and it helped segway into many questions from her about God. My kids also love the music. If you want children to listen to radio stations that play music about sex, violence and drugs with no alternative, pull the plug on K-love. If you think a station that is positive and encourages love while keeping teens and children interested is worth it to society, keep it. You know how much our society has degraded over the past 50 years because you see it every day on the news. Kids are de-sensitized to sex and violence because they hear and see it all day long in the 'entertainment' business, so of course it's ok to do what they see. If you take away K-love, evil has won again. Jesus is the light in this world... I beg you to keep the light turned on!
